

I wonder how you
are doing ...

I've been thinking about you pretty
often lately ...
Back then you were the only one I could rely on ...

There is no one left on my side now ...

By the way, why do you live in such a cold place? You aren't a refugee.

I chose peace of mind, and this place has it.

Not many bother venturing into cold regions nowadays.

For me though, I feel less effected by the cold due to being an experimental mon.

Additionally, I can use everything this city has to offer all by myself.

Most importantly

This place has been pretty good for hunting down women.

Seniors and women often risk the cold and come here for supplies, thinking there will be less competition.

It is the longest mort in this area after all.

You've brought me a lot of misfortunes but

At least I won't have to hunt women down anymore. I never liked doing it.

Are you saying it isn't fully looted?

Can you gather as much as you can? We have a place to go.

What?! I am not letting you loot my mort and leave!

I have to go. You can stay behind and die.

I have to go to the refugee city ...
